Luxury Room Renovation project underway
ANA InterContinental Tokyo converts single rooms into 47 additional suites and starts selling new rooms in phases

Tokyo, Japan, 21 March 2024: ANA InterContinental Tokyo is currently undergoing a large-scale Luxury Room Renovation project, aiming to renovate 759 of its total 844 guest rooms since October 2023. The renovation is well underway, and we are proud to introduce our new Club InterContinental Mizu Suites.

Drawing inspiration from Japan's rich traditions and captivating culture, the interior design highlights the concept of 'origami' as its motif, embodying the essence of 'unfolding Tokyo'. Our Club InterContinental Mizu Suites, means "Water" in Japanese, combine two adjacent single rooms into spacious 52sqm Club InterContinental Suites. Flooded with natural light streaming through expansive windows, the suites illuminate every corner. The design reflects simplicity with a nod to Japanese aesthetics, creating a tranquil atmosphere. Additional features include large LCD Smart TVs with high-quality surround sound speakers, luxurious bath amenities, automatic blinds, and a carefully curated minibar with premium selections, enhancing the overall stay.

Michael Janssen, General Manager, stated: "We're excited to reveal our newly refurbished rooms with an 'origami' motif reflecting Japanese culture, including our 52sqm Club InterContinental Mizu Suites. This luxurious upgrade elevates our offerings, focusing on curated details and unique experiences. The ANA InterContinental Tokyo solidifies its position as a luxury destination in Tokyo's competitive market."
